

Curriculum Vitae PAUL JEFFERS (AUSTRALIAN)

BIOGRAPHY

I started my photographic career by shooting pictures of mates riding BMX bikes for FocalPoint Magazine, Melbourne. Years later my interest steered toward social documentary and reportage.

Later on, I became friends with freelance photographers Emmanuel Santos and Hwa Goh in St Kilda. They helped me refine my vision and continued to be a mentor and support.

In 2006, I began a street series 'Metropolis' in Melbourne and continued to scour the city in search of moments that depict the urban life. In contrast, I started documenting the lives of farmers around regional Victoria in 2007.

At present I freelance as an editorial and event photographer, whilst working on personal projects and portfolio.
